BALTIMORE May 19.—Representatives of four trunk lines met in the office of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to-day. It was decided to make no change or the present in the tariff on east bound freight.

The Milton Relief Fund

PHILADELPHIA May 18.—The fund for the relief of Milton sufferers now amounts to $20 000.

Funeral of the late Judge Church

ALBANY N. Y. May 19.—The funeral of the late Chief Justice Sanford E. Church was most imposing. Crowds of people from abroad were in attendance.

A Generous Compliment

CHICAGO May 19.—Mr J H Haverly the enterprising amusement manager has fitted up a commodious office in his theater with a full reporter's outfit for the especial use of newspaper correspondents and reporters from various states of the union who are to be here during the national republican convention.

A Town Destroyed by Fire

COUDERSPORT Penn May 18.—At 3 this afternoon a fire broke out in a room of Shebtans Bros store used for storing oil. The town is without a water supply or fire apparatus and nothing could be done to check the fire which burned rapidly. By 5 o'clock every dwelling store and place of business in the town except four were laid in ashes. About forty buildings in all were destroyed; loss $200 000; insurance $75 000.

A Sad Accident

MACHIAS N. Y. May 19.—While Fletcher Rafferty and wife and John Euchner and wife were rowing on Lime lake Sunday evening the boat ran across a snag and capsized. Mrs Euchner and Mr Rafferty were drowned.

CINCINNATI May 19.—The fourth musical festival began to-night. Its financial success is assured. Sales of seats $30,000, chorus to-night, 620; orchestra 150. Annie Louise Carey, M. Whitney Campanini and other soloists received hearty applause. Theodore Thomas managed the orchestra.

Miners Killed.

READING Pa May 19.—Yesterday evening a portion of Pennypacker's plumbago mines near Chester Springs caved in and killed Jos Mills and James N Brown. Their bodies were crushed and mangled horribly.

Dakota Republicans.

ST PAUL May 19.—The Dakota republican convention held at Fargo to-day chose C H McCoy and Porter Warner delegates to the Chicago convention. They are for Windom if he has any chance, otherwise for Blaine.

Nebraska for Blaine.

CHICAGO May 19.—The Tribune's special says the Nebraska state republican convention met at Columbus and was called to order at 7 o'clock this evening by J W Daines, chairman of the state central committee. G W Collins was made temporary chairman. Committees were appointed as usual. There is an anti Grant majority in the convention, and probabilities favor Blaine.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Races at Washington.

WASHINGTON May 18.—Races 1¼ miles—Baby won, Cinderella second; time 2 12. Mile and half—Checkmate won, Monitor second; time 2.37. Mile heats—Susanonoa won, Eunice second; time 1 45, 1 50, 1 52. Dispute won the steeple chase, Faustina second; time 4 minutes.

The Coming Contest.

WASHINGTON May 19.—Referee Blaikie says of the Hanlan Courtney race that word from both boat houses is to the effect that everything is in readiness and the rowing apparatus of both men are in perfect order.

The Race Postponed.

The Hanlan-Courtney race has been postponed till 5.30, owing to the severe heat.

The Home Rulers.

DUBLIN May 19.—Home rulers have adopted Parnell's resolution in favor of peasant proprietary.

A Matter of Treaty Interpretation

CONSTANTINOPLE May 19.—After the return of Maynard the American minister to Constantinople Sawas Pasha renewed his protest against the jurisdiction which Maynard had assumed through orders from Washington. Maynard has gone to Alexandria to try an other American accused of murdering an Egyptian. It is believed here that the Egyptian government will protest against Maynard's assumption of jurisdiction and ignore it.

Russian Military Matters

BERLIN May 18.—Letters from St Petersburg express a belief that Gen Todleben while staying at St Petersburg prior to assuming the governor generalship of Wilna will be consulted regarding the erection of fortifications at Vladivostock and in the Amoor district generally. A vast amount of material is being shipped thither. Vessels belonging to the volunteer fleet now at Cronstadt will shortly start for Vladivostock with a quantity of torpedoes. Several other vessels are being fitted out for a voyage to the Pacific. The [illegible] postponement of the Tekke expedition in view of threatened complications with China is generally discussed in St Petersburg. Gen Skobeleff or Prince Imeretinsky will be appointed commander in chief on the Russo Chinese coast. A well accredited report is in circulation that an officer has left St Petersburg with orders for Gen Skobeleff.

THE SPRINGFIELD CONVENTION.

No Decision [illegible] the Cook County Contested Case.

G. B. Payne, a Grant Man, Temporary Chairman—Appearances in Favor of Grant—General Proceedings.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SPRINGFIELD, May 19.—The republican state convention was called to order at noon by A M Jones and [illegible] B Raum was unanimously chosen chairman. Thousands of people in the city were unable to gain admission to the hall, only 600 tickets being issued. Jones made a speech alluding to the glorious record of the [illegible] party in Illinois.

The Springfield [illegible] all districts except the first three held conventions during the forenoon to select members of the committee on credentials. In several districts delegates were also selected.

Gen Raum made a temperate address setting forth that with unity of action the republicans could without the shadow of a doubt carry the election. With the division which is now imminent on account of the contesting delegations from Cook county there was peril to the greatest interests of the state and nation. He referred to the bitter and personal contest respecting presidential delegates but said that this convention would decide honorably, fairly and justly, without partisanship, on the rights of those two contestants and that the decision ought to be final and ought to be readily concurred in.

He said that if the party was always to be menaced by defeat by a minority who failed to dictate a nomination the sooner it went into bankruptcy the better. He referred in most complimentary terms to Sherman, Blaine and Grant, but expressed the belief that it was the duty of Illinois republicans to nominate Grant, who had done so much to preserve the country. The name of Sherman was loudly cheered, Blaine still more loudly and the name of Grant called forth continued applause. There was much confusion resulting from a multiplicity of motions. A motion was adopted declaring that all contesting delegates should abide the decision of the convention. A motion made to adjourn was voted down 349 to 248, being nearly the Grant and anti Grant strength in convention. The convention however after appointing a committee on credentials adjourned till 5 P. M.

Immediately after the adjournment of the convention at 2 o'clock the committee on credentials met and organized by the election of Lewis Ellsworth chairman. All counties presented credentials except where contested. The Palmer House delegation presented their credentials when the Farwell delegation presented theirs. Mr Newsel objected because they had not complied with a resolution adopted in the convention, requiring them to abide by the decisions of the convention. After a lengthy debate during which much feeling was developed, by a vote of 9 to 8, the chair not voting, the delegation were required to take the pledge. The committee representing the Farwell Hall delegates asked until 8 P. M., to consult, which was granted and the committee adjourned until that hour.

The convention convened at 5 o'clock and requested the committee on credentials to report the names of uncontested delegates; it being stated that the committee would not be able to report for an hour or more. The convention took a recess till 8 o'clock.

The convention met at 8 o'clock and the committee on credentials reported a list of delegates from all counties except Cook and Green which was adopted and the persons named therein declared to be members of the convention which then adjourned till 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO May 19.—Convention reassembled last evening at 8 P. M., Pond in the chair. After the usual wrangle over the question of whether the platform and constitution should be adopted as a whole or considered seriatim during which country members charged the city delegates with trying to tire them out by dilatory tactics, it was decided to take them up seriatim. The platform was then taken up by sections.

Section 16 was amended to demand a repeal of the desert land act.

Section 21 opposing two consecutive terms of a president of the United States, was amended by striking out the word "consecutive." A section favoring the enfranchisement of women was stricken out after a lively discussion.

Section 31, demanding that the general government exercise the functions of banking, and issue gold silver and paper money which shall be a full legal tender and interchangeable, were stricken out and a substitute adopted to the effect that all paper circulation be issued from the U S treasury, and not through the agency of any banks; that such currency shall represent the national debt and in connection with gold and silver shall be interchangeable and a full legal tender. The platform as amended was then adopted as a whole. The convention then proceeded to discuss the constitution by sections.

Braunhart proposed as a substitute for the first section that the section as it stands in the original [illegible] the party retaining the old title of the W. P. C., instead of as proposed making it a component part of the labor party of the United States and [illegible] a fusion with all other parties. This raised a question of combining with the greenback labor party and a lively debate followed, pending which the convention adjourned till morning.

OUR NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

Speech by Hon M. C. George at Turn-Halle Last Night—Large and Enthusiastic Attendance.

The announcement that Hon. M. C. George, the republican candidate for congress would speak last night in Turn Halle drew an audience which completely filled the hall. The assemblage was composed of representative intelligent working republicans who showed by their enthusiasm that they felt more than an ordinary interest in the coming contest. A number of ladies were present. Mr George was introduced by Hon J N Dolph and spoke for more than two hours. He kept the attention of the audience until he closed and was frequently interrupted with applause. Following is a synopsis of the speech.

After a few prefatory remarks Mr George stated that his democratic opponent Gov Whiteaker could not participate in this campaign and therefore he should refrain as much as possible from unnecessary allusion to the governor's public record and entirely from allusion to his private record, except to say that their personal relationship was of the most friendly character and nothing should occur on his part to mar the same. He felt it due the governor that in all his relationship with Mr Whiteaker personally, in public and in private life he had every found him to be an honest and upright man.

He stated that in conformity with an established custom he was engaged in a canvass throughout the state at large and with a view to a more intimate acquaintance with the people of this state and their boundless opportunity for future development which would alike be of benefit to him, either in case of his defeat or election he had improved every opportunity to inform himself of the wants and needs of all sections and all interests.

He did not purpose to engage in a discussion that would harrow up the feelings of his fellow citizens and he would that we might forget the past with its bloody associations and live only for the benefit of each other in the future. That we have a common country, a community of interests and a common destiny. We are all American citizens and he especially dwelt upon the importance of living fully up to the spirit of the civilization of the age. Compared our country with that of Rome when it was the boast and pride of her people that they were Roman citizens and showed that even Rome, in her palmiest days as a republic bore no comparison in moral and political grandeur with the United States of America.

Urged upon the young men just coming into the stage of political action the importance of a deep study into the spirit of our institutions and our form of government. That in times like this it was proper and right to review the action of parties and men asking to be enstated with political power. That it was his purpose to review some of the actions of the democratic party which for the last few years had been partly in possession of power.

From 1860, when that party went out of power until recently, it was, so far as the general government was concerned, a party merely of theories and ideas. These were made known by their party platforms, the declarations of their party orators and writings of their party press, but since they came into power in the lower halls of congress, they have also become a party of actions and actions ever speak louder than words. That record the speaker proposed to review. Through a misconception, power was conferred on the democratic party as an inevitable consequence of our past state of confusion and internal commotion the very dregs as it were of our body politic had been thrown to the surface of political society. Such had ever been the case in every country and nation that has passed a like ordeal, as per consequence many mal establishments of corruption occurred that alarmed the people of this land and in their haste and error of judgment they blamed the party in power and thought to fly to another for relief.

In the great wave of public indignation that swept over our land the republican party was swept out of power in the lower house of congress, and the democratic party placed therein with seventy five majority. But its Bourbon tendencies were rapidly manifested whilst at the same time the people began to take a more sober and rational view of the remedies for corruption in public life, that the remedy was not to flee to other parties but that honesty was the only antidote for dishonesty, and that corruption in official life should be corrected by punishing guilty individuals and electing none but those whose private character should be some guaranty of their public life—this coupled with reforms in the civil service etc etc. These are fundamental principles and without them no party or no government can long expect to succeed. The people soon began to realize their error and succeeding elections instead of putting the democratic party further into power diminished their chances for holding what little they had by almost wiping out their majority in the lower house. It was then that designing partisan leaders of the democratic party became desperate in their thirst for power. They were principally southern brigadiers who having failed to control the union in 1861 tried to destroy it. Alexander Stephens tells us that for sixty out of the seventy two years before the war the south through a minority controlled the nation. How? By the abuse of the caucus system. Being a majority of the democratic party by the caucus system they controlled the party and the party then united controlled the nation.

No representative no matter who should ever be governed in his representative capacity by the dictation of another or third party. It is well enough in men acting in a private capacity as individuals and not to be bound by the principle of majorities for that is their own business but a representative representing others should be amenable only to his people and when their interests are at stake should not be governed by the dictation of third parties. These are the abuses of this otherwise valuable caucus system. The democratic party has through it always been controlled by the dictation of the south until the extra session which the speaker proposed to review was another evil result of the democratic caucus system. [illegible] was listened to a democratic congressional caucus and the whole mass of honest law abiding peace loving democrats were asked to bow before the desperate men, as the democratic partisan leaders were then casting about for new methods of gaining the coveted political power. They feared that free and honest elections would not do it; it was through them the power was gradually slipping away. In looking over the past they saw that intimidation and corrupt elections had turned the [illegible] past and might again in the [illegible] They saw in the policy of [illegible] intimidation had effected [illegible] the vast republican vote of the south [illegible] in evening the [illegible] scarce [illegible] thousands [illegible] majority were [illegible] election [illegible] grand and effective means of making the [illegible]

They saw how corrupt elections in the large cities of the north had [illegible] advantage of the democratic party and how in 1868 the city of New York [illegible] state was carried for Seymour, and of the thousands of [illegible] fraudulent votes cast in the city of New York.

The [illegible] cities of the north [illegible] states. Like the last presidential [illegible] there was [illegible] carried the state for Tilden [illegible] cut out a circle about the city of New York in the state and Bridgeport and New Haven from Connecticut and Jersey City from New Jersey and Tilden would not have carried an electoral vote in the whole north.

A letter was referred to written by Horace Greeley to S J Tilden denunciatory of those frauds in New York under the building carried on of Tweedism in 1868.

The unscrupulous leaders of the democracy in congress when they realized that like Moses of old they were only permitted to view the promised land of political power and must return to the [illegible] of hunt [illegible] and [illegible] to their desperate [illegible] power determined if possible to stop these old engines of intimidation and corruption again at work by [illegible] the [illegible] well known [illegible] the future as in the past [illegible] to the advantage of their party [illegible] power to [illegible] the peace at the polls [illegible] [illegible] the south [illegible] representative method [illegible] the south and the supervisors [illegible] in the [illegible] impediment in the way in the north.

Mr George then explained the object and history of the supervisors law passed by congress in 1870 in consequence of the gross frauds referred to in 1868 in New York and which provided for the appointment by the United States circuit judges of supervisors whose duty was in the election [illegible] of congressmen to supervise the elections and see that dishonest, fraudulent and false and corrupt voting should be punished. Congress had ample authority so to do under the U. S. constitution.

Section 4 of art I. The times places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations except as to the place of choosing senators.

The supervisors' law has since been decided by the supreme court to be constitutional which decision has been condemned by a resolution passed by the late democratic convention, upon which Mr George commented at length and to the infinite amusement and entertainment of the large audience present.

In thus trying to repeal all these laws the design of the brigadiers was apparent and had they been openly avowed the honesty of the democratic party would have spurned them in their honest indignation. The speaker here paid a tribute to the good faith, sincerity and honesty of the masses of the democratic party and alluded to the fact that he could not have the faith he had in the future of our institutions and our country unless he had faith in the honesty of heart of the great American people of both great political parties. He was even willing to ascribe it to the masses of the south in the late terrible conflict however much he may have believed them to have been the most terribly misguided people on the face of the earth. He referred pathetically to the graves of the brave of the south, where they had by the highest evidence attested their sincerity of conviction and his belief however that the time would come when the survivors of the south would believe with him that they were the most grievously misled people which history will give any account, and that what he had to say was only in condemnation of those unscrupulous and designing partisans who try to rule or ruin, and are for power for the pelf it brings to them regardless of the interests of the people.

He referred to the notorious fact that this class of people of whatever party, always look out for their own ends and the people are none the better therefor. Designing and unprincipled partisans of any party are an injury to the party and their country. These partisans then proposed the repeal of all these laws and to secure immunity and justification for themselves in so doing and to deceive the people in rallying to their support they resorted to two great false issues. To secure the repeal of the law allowing the use of troops to keep the peace at the polls in the south they raised the hue and cry of military interference with the freedom of elections and to secure the repeal of the hindrances to corruption in the large cities of the north the cry was raised of infringement of state rights. Both were false issues, and well known to be false at the time when raised. There was no foundation for either but they were resorted to simply to raise a cloud of dust in the eyes of the people. No danger of military interference. When the great danger was pretended to exist there was scarcely one soldier to the county and in many of the states of the south there were no soldiers at all. The speaker read a list of the U. S troops that showed the utter absurdity of the pretended danger. Then the existing law prevented it. The civil or military officer of the United States who ever attempted to use a single soldier to interfere with the freedom of an election anywhere did what the law prohibited and laid himself liable to the heaviest punishment—fines running up to $5 000 and imprisonment for from three months to two years. [Mr George here referred to section 2002 5528 2003 5529 5530 5531 5532 of the United States revised statutes and Sec 15 of act of congress approved June 18, 1878.] The only right existing was simply to keep the peace at the polls and as this was what stood in the way of the intimidation engine the fact is significant that the striking out of those simple words "to keep the peace at the polls" was the only change proposed by the democratic brigadiers regarding the military and shows their base designs and the utter hollowness of their cry about the great danger to the freedom of elections. [Mr George here referred to the old principles invoked by the democratic orators and their utter inapplicability.] Referred to the proper bearing of the governmental maxims that large standing armies should not be maintained in times of peace and the military power should ever be subservient to the civil power; said that in the United States the military power is only a more powerful police force to carry out the laws of the land and always under control of the laws. John C Calhoun—good democratic authority, by the way—when secretary of war, declared in favor of an army large enough to protect our frontier and to enforce our laws.

The speaker drew a comparison between our insignificant army and the powerful armies of European countries. Alluded in very feeling manner to the utter insufficiency of our army to protect our people who like pioneers carried civilization along with them on to the plains and hills of Eastern Oregon and tried to surround themselves with the blessings and comforts of home and were compelled to fly before the throats of a savage foe and to behold their homes desolated and ruined because of inadequate protection. Referred to the Modoc war bonds of $132 000 outstanding and no money with which to pay the interest and no legislation had by congress to reimburse our state. [illegible] Gen. Hardie reported in favor of allowing $70 000 of the amount. Also to the vast expense incurred by the state on account of our recent outbreak and the necessity for congressional legislation reimbursing the taxpayer of this state therefor.

The interferences claimed to have existed [illegible] times past were trivial except [illegible] furnished by Gen Geo B McClellan during the war in 1861 when from his army head quarters in Washington he issued an order to Gen Banks in Maryland not to permit disloyal persons to vote but only loyal persons. And everybody knows that the democratic party became so enamored of Gen B McClellan that after this they ran him for president of the United States [illegible] did their level best to elect him. And this when by virtue of the [illegible] of the United States would have made him military commander in chief of the armies and navies of the United States. [illegible] however [illegible] was [illegible] of the exercise of the military power [illegible] is the policy of [illegible] power [illegible] [illegible] the peace at the polls [illegible] been [illegible] [illegible] a vast [illegible] the democratic [illegible] A vast pledge [illegible] to preserve the [illegible] tion free from [illegible] supervision and [illegible] the other [illegible] pretext to cover up the designs manifest in the [illegible] main part of the [illegible] the extra session [illegible] the law [illegible] is who [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] ence was next made [illegible] [illegible] supervisors law. [illegible] with the [illegible] election [illegible] secured to the constitution [illegible] here failed. The passage of the law regulating the manner of election of members of congress was just a valid an exercise of power as the passage of the law regulating the election of U. S. senators. Both stand on the same section of the constitution, and Mr George fully showed that Gov Whiteaker had without any apparent question of his legal right so to do voted in the passage of the same [illegible] as the supervisors law. [illegible] had supervision of the election of U. S. Senators [illegible] and [illegible] described [illegible] of the government [illegible] and [illegible] result and finding [illegible] Grover's election though by

The way [illegible] seem so unreasonable [illegible] [illegible] the correctness of his conclusions in that particular. He showed that the supreme court [illegible] held both [illegible] [illegible] of the United States [illegible] [illegible] the law [illegible] [illegible] copy in another [illegible] has been [illegible] thereto. He also showed that Mr Whiteaker had again committed himself to this doctrine in the opinion he had prepared by Judge Phillips and published in the Standard which was based on the [illegible] congress possessed the constitutional power to pass laws regulating the times and manner of the election of congressmen [illegible] was absolutely nothing in the [illegible] of [illegible] infringement of state rights.

The speaker took occasion to explain his views of state rights. He showed by apt and forcible illustration and by recalling the history of the formation of the constitution how it was essential that the constitutional rights of the states should be preserved, how that our system imperatively demanded it and that to preserve the constitutional rights of each and every state was just as essential as it was to preserve the rights of this nation, both now required national rights in national matters and state rights in local matters. The speaker showed that this was the theory of the American government and the object and aim of the republican party. He referred to the pernicious principle of state sovereignty and how through its abuse it had been the baleful mother of nullification secession and anarchy in our government. By an apt illustration he explained its working and showed that it never had any foundation in the constitution of the United States and how by that instrument a supreme court as a last and final tribunal had been constituted to adjudicate and settle all questions arising under the constitution and laws of the United States. State rights should ever be preserved but against the dangerous doctrine of state sovereignty the republican party raises the standard for the unity and supremacy of the nation.

Mr George then paid a glowing tribute to the grand and august tribunal constituted by the constitution to adjudicate all the great questions of government that might arise in the future. A system of jurisdiction perfected by long and toilsome labor in the fields of battle for human freedom and liberty during the period of the crystalization of the English constitution and long years before our American revolution transplanted here by the wisdom of our fathers and completing our governmental system, the grandest this world has ever witnessed.

The plan of the democratic brigadiers was to force a repeal of these laws. As the senate was at first republican they thought to force a compliance with their demands by tacking the repealing law on to the appropriation bill and force them either to pass the repealing laws or do without the money which the people had placed in the public treasury for the purpose of running the general government. He described how the senators sat back in their "ample" chairs and told the democratic house how they would sit there for a generation to come before they would be forced, and how the matter hung fire, forcing two of the seven special sessions that have been called since the formation of our government and entailing millions of dollars of expense and disturbing the peace and quiet of our country, and preventing much wise and wholesome legislation for the public welfare, how they finally, when the senate had become democratic by one or two majority and the house had dwindled down in its majority to about a like number they proposed to force the president "either to sign the repealing bill or do without the public funds." Resorting as they did to methods condemned by all writers on the principle of government, condemned even by no less a personage than S J Tilden, who, in his letter of acceptance, had spoken in severe terms of the moral duress which often compels assent to objectionable legislation rather than to stop the wheels of government. But what cared they for the means used by them, it was the end they were after and dangerous and designing men are ever unscrupulous in the means resorted to. There are several methods of destroying the national power. Secession was one, nullification was another, and refusal to exercise constitutional duties was a third.

Had the democrats in congress in 1860 instead of manfully going to battle remained in their seats in congress and refused to appropriate a dollar unless the general government and the republicans would agree that it should not be used to suppress the rebellion that rebellion would have been successful. But they failed in their mad career; veto followed veto from the president of the United States. In these veto messages President Hayes called attention to the apparent fact that there was no necessity or use in the repeal of these laws and that, under his solemn oath of office, it was his constitutional duty to take care that the constitution and laws be faithfully executed and that the army, as the grand police of the nation was placed under his command for that purpose he had just as much right to use it on election day, if necessary to preserve the constitution and laws as on any other day in the year and the constitution prevented him from thus depriving himself of the means of enforcing the laws of the land.

Mr George illustrated the operation of our state and national laws and showed that whilst under the articles of confederation the general government operated only on the states and when practically there was no government at all, yet that under the constitution the nation, within its constitutional functions operates on each and every individual and the president of the United States has just as much right to use the military if necessary, on the individual to enforce the constitution that law as the governor of a state has to use the state militia to enforce an obedience to lawful process of a state.

Under our system the state militia is the grand sheriff of the state and the United States militia is the grand United States marshal. The army is merely a public power under control of law and directed by a civil officer elected by the people for the purpose of enforcing the majesty of the law and protecting our frontier.

The president has always used the army for this purpose as the speaker showed by examples and precedents from Washington [illegible] Jefferson Jackson Pierce Buchanan [illegible] down to Lincoln in 1861.

An exchange speaking of the difference between the ages of Mr and Mrs Christiancy says he is sixty three and she is red headed. Now the gossips can hold their tongues.

The New York Graphic quotes the line "Put not your trust in kings" and says the man who puts his trust in four kings will win two thirds of the time.

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

THE BUSINESS BOOM

The tals c n regard to the supplies and growing cr s of whea telegraphed from New York yeste la are important to the people gene a nasmuch as upon their ep perdious e re ab ity lepends n a measure the cont nuance of be export t ade f he country and upon the export trade depends in a la ge measure the people s pr sper Already the rep rts have indicated a one k to the but ness bo n a the east and the pre c tion of very low prices for breadstuffs w ll have a tendency to accelerate the downward movement in the respects It will be we l then for the business men of the country to take an observa on at this point and ascer tain the r bear ngs The ease with which the government passed from non-specie to spec e paying currency the large surplus funds crowding the vaults of the national treasury the unusual balance of trade n our favor all conspired last autumn to burst the barriers that restrained the hoarded capital of he country Money was plenty confi dence was restored and a boom of great ac tivity began in the business world Prices ran up t a speculative hight We were fitly compared to the milkmaid in the fable—we counted our chickens before they were hatched The country began to draw upon its balances with foreign nations its cred ts in England and France for wines and silks, brandies broadcloths and railroad iron Speculation of all kinds became rampant The transition from hard times in money matters and dull times in business to a state of ex raordinary life and activity was so sud den that the country as localities often are was almost taken off its feet and it will be well indeed if the reaction portents of which are already manifest does not lay it upon its back This there is a probability will be the case unless there is a return to the en forced economy of the hard times period and the conduct of business upon legitimate pr n ciples.

Prosperity and happiness among individu als and nations depends after all upon the application of the principles of the Micawber philosophy "The difference between happi ness and misery says the hopeful Micaw ber " is simply the d fference between nine shillings and sixpence and ten shillings and sixpence A man earns ten shillings per day and spends but n e shillings and sixpence and he is a ha py a d prosperous man but if upon the same wages he spends ten and sixpence he is a poverty-str cken miserable person

The difficul y with most people in flush times, is a presumption upon the future unwarranted by experience or sound business principles Elated with pres ent prosperity and the flattering pros pect, they begin to expend their hard earned balances, launch out into more specu lations, undertake doubtful enterprises and go beyond their depth in business when the tide turns sometimes suddenly and they first see their situa ion when the boom is over and it is too late for them to retrieve them selves by the advantages which it offerec or to retrace the steps which "hopes fla tering tale" induced them to take They have spent their ten and six pence while they were earn ing it and when their earnings are reduced, they find themselves unable to make a cor responding reduction in their expenditures. We are not of those who attach the impor tance o present indications that would take them to portend an early downward rush of everything in the business world into the vortex of a panic but experience has taught that inflated, flush or as the word is often used, good times, are followed by a reaction, and it would be well if the balance wheel of judgment could preserve the regu larity which is necessary to business perma nence and growth as well as to the perfect working of machinery. Hence before the further retrograde movement which is not entirely unforeseen, it would be well to call a halt, and trim sails to meet the storm, thus enabling the country to pass safely thr ugh it to the smooth sea beyond

BIDDING FOR VOTES

A labored effort is being made to manu facture a little capital, politically for White aker out of the fact that a democratic com mittee has agreed to insert in an appropria tion bill in congress, items of $40 000 and $90,000 respectively for the improvement of the entrance to Yaquina bar or and the mouth of the Coquille river Getting such items into an appropriation bill and securing the passage of the bill with the items in it are two different jobs and while the one may be accomplished quite easily when the party desiring it can show its political advantage to the party to which a majority of the mem bers of the committee in charge of the sub ject belong, when the matter comes up for passage before the whole congress, it must rest on its merits, and none who know Mr George can truthfully deny that in present ing the mer ts of these questions, he w ll be able and willing to do quite as much as Mr Whiteaker Had Mr Whiteaker secured the passage of these items, it would have been creditable to his industry and attention to the interests of his constituents, but it would have been no more than his duty But after over the trumpeting which is now made of the fact just before election that he has secured the consent of the comm tee to in sert the items in a bill to be reported to con gress at some time in the future sa vors very much of the nature of a trick by which it is expected to secure a large support in certain localities for Mr Whiteaker, He is entitled to credit as a poli tician, most certainly for having taken the course he has in regard to it, though the ruse is by no means original with him It has been tried with varying success on Oregon constituencies before It is more fortunate perhaps for Mr Whiteaker than for the people directly interes ed in the improvements, that he did not secure the consent of the c mmi tee n onths ago to have those items put into the appropriation bill Had this consent been obtained several weeks ago, the people might be enquiring before the election why no further progress was made in the matter But now the answer to such queries wou d of course be that it is not time wait until the proper time arrives and then make your com plaints if the thing fails Indeed whether it fails or succeeds there is no reason why Mr George cannot be trusted with the work of carrying the matter to a successful sue as Mr Whiteaker Hence there is no reason whatever in claiming that republicans ought to vote for the democratic candidate because he will be more likely to secure the a asked In the first place the premises in such an ar gument ar wrong and secondly if the demo cratic congress gives just ce only when asked by democ ts t is high time the po ical charac ter of that body was changed

Nor is t at a l certain that the nex con gress w l be democratic The same failing of of the democrats elected to the 47th con gress that took place in the elec ons for the 46th will leave Bourbonism in a hopeless mi nority n that body

I t true that Mr George did not vote for senate bill No " introduced at the session of the Oregon legislature in 1876 by Mr White aker nor need he be afraid to let it be known Whiteaker introduced and advocated it to pander to an unreasonable clamor that was being made against railroads at that time throughout the country It contained pro visions n eless every way except to embarrass r ads and place them at the mercy of any justice f the peace in the country And f Mr George was wrong in opposing, s were Messrs Davis Brady Jewell and Wisdom all dem ocrats who voted as he did The state however is to be congratulated that the bill never became a law it having fa en still born somewhere between the sen a e and the lower house the e being no rec ord f t in the house journal of that year

Speak ng f the emigrants now arriving in New York by the th usands daily the Post sa s These emig ants are for the most pa t the better as g od into trous fa m r or art sa s The form as are most c w a ready prov ded with tick ets to points in the western sta es while the latt r eagerly e cep w k at their trades in any part of the country The d mand for female help at the emp oyment bureau is still largely in excess of the supply and the man ager is daily beseiged by a large number of housekeepers to procure help He says that he does not expect to have a sufficient num ber of women to supply the demand before next August

In h s speech last night of which we give synop s s elsewhere Mr George made an ex cellent im ression upon his hearers His poin s were clearly made and wh le thoroughly republican was highly conserva tive He took firm ground in favor of na tional supremacy over the pernicious doc trine of the right of a sta e to nullify the acts of congress or destroy the government in any way There were a number of democrats who hea d and expressed highly favorable opinions of h s abil ty while republicans were greatly pleased and enthusiastic

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING MAY 20 1880

CITY.

CASE OF INSANITY.—The Telegram says Mrs Ellen D Conway was brought to the Insane Asylum in East Portland on Tuesday morning by Sheriff Crossen of Wasco county. She came here from Vancouver last week and has a husband working on the Flyer four children in the Orphanage at Vancouver and one in the Orphanage in this city She was examined in Vancouver and through some technicality she could not be admitted in the asylum of Washington territory Mr Conway had taken up a land claim in the territory and during the big storm of last January the house was blown down and his little home destroyed From that time she became demented, and has been so at times ever since This is a very sad affair as before the storm Mrs Conway was an affectionate wife and mother but now her family are scattered and she is worse than dead

Y P A ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment given Tuesday evening by the Young People s Association was one of the most successful affairs of the season The audience was large and appreciative and the exercises of the highest order The instrumental solo by Miss Mattie Hoyt duet by the Misses Dickenson reading by Prof C G Morey vocal solo by Miss Georgie Cooper reading by Miss Nellie Plummer vocal solo by Miss Anderson recitation by Mrs Alice Simpson and solo by Mr K Brooks were each a gem The committee wish to return their sincere thanks to all who took part in the entertainment

THE BENEFIT.—Extensive arrangements are being made for the benefit of Mr George D Chapman and a very attractive programme will be presented A number of the leading amateur and professionals of Portland have volunteered Among those who have kindly offered to appear may be mentioned W H Ambrose and other members of the Handel and Haydn society The benefit will take place some evening next week The time will be mentioned in the next issue

DARKNESS THREATENED.—Secretary Sherman has issued a circular to the custodians of all government buildings and offices throughout the United States stating that appropriations for the miscellaneous expenses of lights water fuel etc, for the current year are exhausted and it is reported that in accordance with this order that the lights at the custom house and postoffice in this city will be shut off to-night

KILLED BY A KICKING HORSE.—A telegram to THE OREGONIAN from J L Hallett s camp on the O R & N R R, at John Day s river received last night says Julius Daharsh, a hostler in the employ of J L Hallett while injudiciously whipping a spirited horse at noon yesterday, was kicked in the stomach from the effects of which he died to-day. His people live at Plymouth Wisconsin

ILL.—Mrs Green one of the teachers in the Bishop Scott grammar school is suffering with a severe attack of pneumonia, but is reported some better Mr Samuel E Barr an old and well known citizen of this county is at Good Samaritan hospital seriously ill with some chronic complaint.

REHEARSAL.—Full chorus and orchestra as well as principals concerned in oratorio of "Elijah" will please be in their places on the stage of New Market Theater to-night at 7 30 sharp

DARING.—Burns the porter on the Bonita struck out boldly and captured the team of Thompson, DeHart & Co, last evening, preventing a lively runaway, and possible smash up.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late William Weatherford took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his family. The funeral was very largely attended

FIRE HOSE.

Some time ago the committee on fire and water, and chief engineer were authorized to contract with the New Jersey Car Spring and Rubber Company for 1000 feet of fire hose Auditor R L Durham has received the following letter from the secretary of that company

JERSEY CITY N J, May 5 1880

R L DURHAM Esq—Dear Sir Referring to city ordinance No. 2671 I would say that the contract for 1000 feet of 2½ inch fire hose is at hand and accepted and that the goods will be shipped with as little delay as possible. Very truly JOHN J VOORHEES
Secretary

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Malarkey the fish and poultry dealer will to-day receive a lot of fine fresh halibut. Orders may be sent by telephone

John Cran & Co have just received from New York a fine line of gimps, fringes, etc. which will be displayed to day. A new lot of dolmans, and ladies and children's suits, have also just been opened

Mr W Greene, of Salem is prepared to remove the most obstinate cancers, by a new and painless remedy He has performed some very remarkable cures in Oregon during past years All persons afflicted with cancers should not fail to give him a trial Mr Greene also removes all warts blotches birth marks etc.

PERSONAL.

Mr Simon Harris returned from Germany yesterday after an absence of nearly two years.

Col Joseph D Potts of New York a man aging director of the Northern Pacific Railroad, arrived on the Oregon yesterday and leaves this morning for the scene of railroad building in Washington territory accompanied by Gen J W Sprague.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Last evening a regular meeting of the common council was held in the chamber at 7 30

His Honor Mayor Thompson in the chair and R L Durham auditor and clerk and Chief Lappeus in attendance

Members present—Jeffery Gerdes Opitz Simon Stolte Watson Keller Weber and Nicklin

The minutes of the last two meetings read and approved

FROM THE MAYOR

The following communication was received from his honor Mayor Thompson

MAYOR S OFFICE PORTLAND May 19 1880

To the Hon the Common Council GENTLEMEN The rapid growth of the city of Portland in population and improvements makes it a necessity that amendments to the city charter should be made The expiration of the state meeting in September next and the proposed amendments should be carefully prepared and considered by the common council before being presented for legislative action

It appears to me the most important matter demanding the attention of the council in this respect is an amendment to the charter granting more power to the board of health so as to more thoroughly enforce sanitary regulations than is now possessed by the board There are other amendments to the charter that should be made I would therefore recommend that a committee be appointed to submit such amendments as they may deem proper to the council to be submitted for legislative action Respectfully submitted
D P THOMPSON

On motion the communication was referred to the committee on judiciary

RESIGNATION

The resignation of Councilman Weber as a member of the committee on streets and public property was read and on motion was accepted

COUCH NO 6

The following communication was received from Geo H Flanders and others and referred to the committee on fire and water

To the Honorable the Common Council We the undersigned residents of the northern portion of the city of Portland respectfully petition your honorable body to grant to Couch No 6 Fire Company an engine and engine house to be located at the corner of Thirteenth and G streets or as near to us as your honorable body may determine and your petitioners will ever pray

PETITIONS

From Joseph Smith asking permission to construct a wharf at the foot of Columbia street referred to the committee on landings and wharves

From I Stilling and others asking to have a sewer constructed on Main street referred to the committee on streets

ASKS FOR HORSE

To the Honorable the Common Council We a committee appointed by Vigilance Hook and Ladder Co No 1 would respectfully apply for horses to draw the new Hayes truck Our company at the present time consists of 41 members, and we find that with the full strength of the company we could only move it on the principal streets of the city Persons who are competent to judge who have pulled on the ropes of the new truck say that it pulls heavier than one of the large engines For this and other reasons which might be mentioned we respectfully ask that you allow us horses for the new truck

WM LUNDBERG

Committee

The petition was referred to the committee on fire and water

MECHANICS FAIR ASSOCIATION

Reports of the Vice President and Secretary.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Mechanics Fair Association the following reports were read and on motion adopted

PORTLAND Or May 18, 1880

To the Stockholders of the Portland Mechanics' Fair GENTLEMEN—On account of the resignation of Mr F C Smith as president November 27 1879, it becomes my duty as vice president to submit the first annual report of your association

While the reports of the secretary are full and concise it may be well to refer to some of the principal items and also the present condition of the company

The Portland Mechanics Fair was incorporated March 29 1879 with a capital stock of $10 000 As soon as the probable cost of a suitable building was made, it was found necessary to increase the stock to $15 000 which was done at a meeting of the stockholders held August 14 1879

Plans and specifications for the pavilion were prepared and the contract let to Mr C R DeBurgh for $10 000 (exclusive of plumbing and gas fitting)

As the building approached completion the fire occurred which destroyed Ainslee & Davidson s planing mills at the same time consuming several thousand dollars worth of finishing material for the pavilion in the shape of mouldings, cornices and door and window frames

It then became evident to the directors that in order to have the building completed in time for the fair they would have to take the same off the contractor s hands This was done and the building was completed as expeditiously and economically as possible

The material destroyed by the fire having to be replaced and the work to be done in so short a time necessarily increased the cost very materially

According to the Secretary's reports the cost of the building as it now stands is $17 480 81 In this amount are included the plumbing bill architect s fees aggregating over $2300 besides other smaller amounts for additions or alterations made during the progress of the work

The building was completed in time for holding the fair which was a success financially and otherwise the net receipts being $3 680 45 which enabled us to pay off the increased cost of the building and also declare a dividend of 10 per cent on the capital stock Our running expenses have been $938 48 to offset which we have receipts amounting to $522 20 personal property to the value of $235 57 has been purchased nearly all of which is now on hand

Last October $10 000 insurance was placed on the building and in December $2000 more making $12 000 insurance carried on the pavilion and personal property at a yearly cost of $240

I consider the outlook for the coming year most favorable as we have our pavilion completed and in good repair, nearly all the personal property on hand that we will probably need and there is no immediate prospect of heavy assessments on account of street improvements, as the streets adjacent to the pavilion are in pretty fair condition

Respectfully submitted
PETER TAYLOR
Vice president Portland Mechanics Fair

The report of the secretary was read and adopted The following is a condensed report

PORTLAND Oregon May 18 1880

To the President and Directors of the Portland Mechanics' Fair—GENTLEMEN I herewith submit my second report and account as secretary of your company

Receipts of fair of 1879	6 599 62
Rent of pavilion	325 00
For gas consumed by parties renting pavilion	179 45
Other sources	47 75
Total receipts	$22 151 82
DISBURSEMENTS
Cost of building	$17 148 81
Expense of fair 1879	3 919 17
Incidental expense	933 48
Purchase of personal property	235 57
Dividends	1,500 00
Repairs of building	35 40
Total	$2 977 46
Leaving a balance of cash on hand	$ 174 36

Report of State Fair Committee on Wm. Scheffler's Wines and Brandy.

To the Board of Managers of the Oregon State Fair for the year 1879—DEAR SIRS Your committee appointed to report on the exhibit of wines and brandies do respectfully report that they have thoroughly examined and tested the PORT SHERRY and AMBER WINES put on exhibition by Mr Wm Scheffler of S Helena Napa county, Cal and that we have called in experts in aid of our judgment and would feel that we were doing Mr Scheffler great injustice did we simply report an exhibit of fine wines The committee feel that they should go much further and say we find an exhibit of really very superior wines which we feel justified in recommending to the confidence of all who have use for wines We have every reason to believe them pure and we can say for ourselves that they are delicious in their flavor

We have also tested Mr Scheffler s SANITARY (VACUUM DISTILLED) GRAPE BRANDY, and is pronounced by connoisseurs brought to our aid as being wonderfully smooth and inviting—and the fact that by the new process of distilling, adopted by Mr Scheffler the brandy is freed from the fusil oils is a desideratum never before attained as we believe and should and doubtless will make Mr Scheffler the leading brandy manufacturer on this coast We would recommend to all druggists a trial of this brandy and these wines And your committee would recommend the award of the society s diploma for SUPERIOR BRANDY AND WINES

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 20, 1880.

MR. GEORGE'S ADDRESS.

Concluded from First Page.

where on any statute book either introduced or drafted by Gov. Whiteaker, for the interest of the state or people. If any such were shown to him he would gladly give Mr. Whiteaker the benefit of it by so stating it wherever he went. Mentioned the law regarding a rebate on tin and showed who was entitled to the credit of it—Senator Slater and Representative Dunning of Minnesota.

Mr. George then entered largely into the considerations that should govern a representative from the state. That no matter where he came from, or what his vocation in life might be, or what his private views were, if any, that his action, his labor, his vote and his influence should only be exercised in congress in a representative capacity. That he represented the whole people of both political parties and all interest of the people and all sections of the state, he cared not how isolated or neglected, or how much it might, in imagination, conflict with the interest of the section where the representative lived, should receive equal and exact justice at the hand of public legislation.

The speaker said that a representative never should allow his representative act to be swayed by his private interest. A representative that would do it in one instance would do it in another and is on the high road to taking a bribe or fee at the hands of the corruptionist. No attorney, in his judgment, could accept, directly or indirectly, a fee for his influence or labor in the halls of legislation outside of the compensation allowed by law. He thought that the interests of the state and people were of the highest consideration and were to be looked after in preference to party and partisan advantage.

He thought that Mr. Whiteaker in the extra session had opportunity that cannot be enjoyed by his successor to become acquainted with the methods of business, the senators and representatives and the various committees, and instead of legislating for partisan ends had a glorious opportunity to present his drafted bills, collate and present to the individual members and committees his personal views and information regarding our material interests and securing favorable reports and an early calendar for legislative work at the next session.

The second session—prolonged as it had been—was now nearing its close, and where is our legislation. Extra sessions are few and far between—only seven of them since the formation of our nation, and the governor had enjoyed the opportunity of one of them. Whilst bills had been introduced there was much difference between the introduction and passage of bills. Out of 450 bills introduced in the legislature of Oregon during a session probably not 40 of a general character will become law. Out of two or three thousand in congress a far less proportion will grace the statute books. Some of the measures advocated by the governor he hoped would pass. The appropriations recommended were good in their way, but much too small, but on the principle that a half loaf is better than none let us have them.

Mr. George desired to refer to the Chinese question more particularly in this city. Relations of peace and amity were long since established with China—as long ago as the time of President Polk, which relationship under all rules of international law, allowed migration of people when friendly disposed, and no other legislation prohibited. Experience with the foreign Chinese element introduced under that and subsequent treaties, has made manifest the existence of a dangerous element, productive of many features of evil, and it is not necessary to recapitulate them, for they are generally recognized by our western people. It will just be necessary to properly unfold these evils to the people of the eastern states, and also to show to them that their ideas, derived from the articles dealing in glowing colors of the better class of the people of China, are not applicable to the low, servile coolie class that form such a large percentage of the immigration to this coast, that gives occasion for this difficulty.

It is the part of the wise statesmen of our republic to carefully consider the effect upon our institutions and form of government. Serious questions arise as to whether the Chinese element is a proper one. Is it intelligent? Does it possess the requisite virtue, and will it assimilate or affiliate with our citizenship? The facts stare us in the face that the immense percentage is male—that the relationship of marriage, the foundation of all good government, scarcely exists.

That the female portion is corrupting; that much of their food and clothing is imported from a country where four dollars per month and ten cents per day are average wages; with no more affiliation or assimilation to-day than a quarter of a century ago; with not a homestead among them, and theories of government diametrically opposed to our own—a law unto themselves and standing as a block in the way often of our laws; speaking a foreign language and worshipping a pagan deity; the vast body of them bound hand and foot by the restriction of cooly serfdom, and coming from the lower classes of China, the classes described by Bayard Taylor, the great traveler, as the most debased people on the face of the earth. By all the principles of the law of nations every country has a right to protect itself and to refuse admittance even to a foreigner if an evident danger or manifest injury is the probable result. The right of self defense demands it. If society may imprison one of its own members for the public welfare, much more may it exclude if necessary for the same reasons those from a foreign shore.

The care should be exercised, for intelligence, knowledge, virtue and patriotism are essential in the citizenship of America. There is no correct or well defined principle of our government that makes America free to the rag tag of Asia or any other country. Neither to the advocate of imperialism from Europe or the slave from Asia. Serious questions are at stake. It is yet a question in many respects unsolved as to the capacity of large and indiscriminate masses for self-government. The American government is a political experiment of a hundred years growth, and without virtue and intelligence in American people it would have been a failure. Great care should be exercised in our accretion of foreign population. We need especially only those who will become of us, assimilate with our people and become a part of us in all the essentials. Questions as to the kind and character of the people are of deeper importance in republics than in despotic countries where each does not assist in governing the other, but all are governed by arbitrary power centered in one.

Compare the intelligent American laborer, married, surrounded by his wife and children, living on his own homestead, supporting his school and church, obeying the law and loyal in every manner to his government, with the coolie laborer from China—ignorant, childless, unmarried, no home but his Chinese hovel, like they have in San Francisco, where 30,000 live in the area of a few blocks, and all pagans and idolaters. No intelligent person can contemplate the scene without grave apprehensions, wherever this foreign element largely predominates. America has had enough of race difficulties. With the red race and the black race we have had to deal in the past, and now the yellow race demands our attention.

It is said that civilization began its course in Asia,—wended its way through Europe westward to America. From the same place now comes westward the elements of barbarism, and the Pacific coast resounds with the contending clashing. Less numerous but equally dangerous foes have humbled and destroyed other and older nations and wise and efficient legislation is demanded. Our treaties regarding purely voluntary emigration must be enforced in the spirit that will defeat the coolie traffic, and modification of these treaties secured wherever our interests demand and public sentiment throughout our nation thoroughly enlisted in this behalf.

The speaker paid a glorious tribute to the people and state of Oregon. He was just closing a canvass of southern and central Oregon, and would leave in the morning for eastern Oregon. Had everywhere by all parties been treated with extreme courtesy and kindness. Large audiences and densely crowded houses had almost uniformly greeted him.

The undeveloped wealth of the state was boundless, and a grand future was looming up before us all. Spoke of the coal fields and vast forests of the coast and the rich hills and plains of the interior. Of the progress we will make when railroad connection opens us up with the dense population of the east and of the absolute importance of having the national legislation in full accord with the spirit and progress of the age. That this was his home and he had known no other. Reared and educated here for twenty, a resident upon a farm in Linn county, and in all a resident there for a quarter of a century, for nearly thirty years a resident of Oregon, all his associations, all his interests, all his affections, and all his sympathies were essentially with the people of the young and rapidly advancing state. The honor of the nomination unsolicited and unsought was indeed gratifying to him, but far more so was the reflection that where he had been known the longest, there he found the heartiest support from the delegates. The friendship of his fellow citizens he prized and it would be the most self-gratifying moment of his life when he might be permitted to labor in the interest of those he had known so long. Mr. George stated that he had not been able to visit every portion of the state, but it was his intention in event of his election before going to the capitol to personally visit and inspect if at all possible the various points asking for assistance through legislation that he might be the better enabled to discharge the trust of a representative. He earnestly called attention to his views that any discrimination if ever made in legislation should be in the interest of the laboring population. The rich and the powerful can always provide for number one, but very often the poor and the laboring classes, the less informed and more needy require the aid of favorable legislation to protect their interest. And in general legislation whilst guarding against the creation of monopoly, our agricultural, industrial and manufacturing interests should ever be fostered and protected by the laws of the land. Our principle should be "independence of others, dependence on ourselves." Mr. George referred to the other gentlemen upon the republican ticket for supreme judges and state printer and paid them each and all a high tribute to their moral worth and ability.

A STALLION STAKE.

Plan to Establish an Annual Stake to be Run for at The Dalles.

[Inland Empire, May 15th.]

As the merits of the several breeding sires in this state and Washington territory have been a frequent subject of discussion, we propose to test the matter by opening a stallion stake similar to that at Louisville, to run here in 1884, distance one mile, free for all colts and fillies dropped next year. The entrance for each colt will be $40, $10 forfeit, and the stake will close on the 31st of December next. No colt can be entered in this race unless his sire contributes the price of a season (whatever that may be) in cash, to represent his progeny in the stake. For instance, Glen Dudley stands at $50 and Delaware at $20, but both horses must be represented on those terms before a forfeit of $10 can be received from any colt sired by either, in this stake. The sire of the winner will receive back his entrance after the race is run and the entrance of the losers will go with the purse, and be apportioned as follows. One half to the winner, two thirds of the other half to the second and the other third to the third horse. If run at The Dalles, $300 in gold will be added to the stake. There are now in Oregon and Washington territory 16 thoroughbred stallions, to wit: Delaware, Doctor Lindsay, Jack Minor, Ophir, Glen Dudley, Montana, Winters, George Wilkes, Sidney Burbridge, Osceola, Monte Cristo, Scamperdown, Twenty One, Luther and Frank Hastings, while Billy Newell, one of the best sons of Norfolk, is kept somewhere near the California boundary. We figure that should all the 16 named be entered in the stake, it would amount to $400, while eight starters would make $320 and eight forfeits $80 more. Add to this the $300 given by the track, and you have $1,100, the largest purse ever given in Oregon for a single dash of a mile. Of this sum the winning horse would get $550, the second $377, and the third $183. All the above-mentioned horses are untried sires, save Lindsay, and the sum which it would cost their owners to enter them is a mere trifle in the way of advertising. It can be made a grand success, for The Dalles is the only racing point near the center of the state where a race can be made for a day certain. Let the stockbreeders give the matter due consideration.

King of the Blood

Cures all Scrofulous affections and disorders resulting from Impurity of the blood. It is needless to specify all, as the sufferer can usually perceive their cause; but Salt Rheum, Pimples, Ulcers, Tumors, Goitre, Swellings, &c., are the most common, as well as many affections of the Heart, Head, Liver and Stomach.

SCROFULA.

Wonderful Cure of Blindness.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO.: For the benefit of all troubled with Scrofula or Impure Blood in their systems, I hereby recommend King of the Blood. I have been troubled with Scrofula for the past ten years, which so affected my eyes that I was completely blind for six months. I was recommended to try King of the Blood, which has proved a great blessing to me, as it has completely cured me, and I cheerfully recommend it to all troubled as I have been.

Yours truly,

MRS. S. WEATHERLOW, Sardinia, N. Y.

THE GENUINE

CELEBRATED

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them A FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet the subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician to treat them from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blasted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

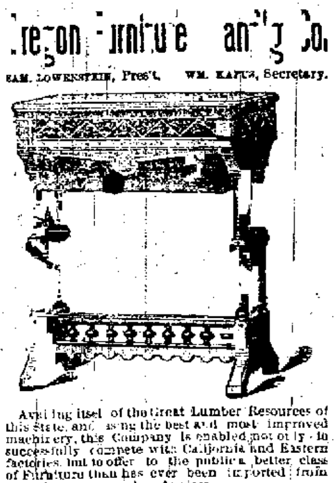
Oregon Furniture Man'f'g Co.

SAM. LOWENSTEIN, Pres't. WM. KAPUS, Secretary.



Availing itself of the Great Lumber Resources of this State, and using the best and most improved machinery, this Company is enabled not only to successfully compete with California and Eastern factories, but to offer to the public a better class of Furniture than has ever been imported from abroad at greatly reduced prices.

The Company has made the

in all its branches a specialty, and its ware rooms are crowded with the very latest designs in Body Tapestry, Wool and Ingrain Carpets that foreign and domestic looms have produced.

Orders from the Country promptly attended to and photographs, designs and prices furnished on application.
